ceding.

150 INJURED, SAYS WIRELESS REPORT

$1,000,000 Property Loss
First Estimate; Biloxi and Gulfport Said to Have Suffered; Shipping Saved
by Warning.

By Associated Press.
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 30.—A wireless message from New Orleans to the station at Fort Sam Houston at 10:10 this morning, said:
"Report conditions are not very bad."

GALVESTON, Tex., Sept. 30.—A wireless message received here this morning from New Orleans stated that at 3 o'clock the water in the streets of the city was receding rapidly and that the river was going down. This message put the number of dead in New Orleans at five. Indications were, the message said, that the damage to property had been considerable.

MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 30.—Railway and wire companies began working today to establish early communication with Gulf coast cities hit last night by a West Indian hurricane.

From New Orleans, which bore the brunt of the storm, had come early today only meager news by wireless. Ten persons reported dead, 150 injured and property loss put at more than $1,000,000, was the storm toll there, a relayed radio telegram said. The message added that ample warning was given of the storm's approach and had prevented damage to shipping.

A furious gale lifted the roofs from many New Orleans buildings and partly demolished the old French Market, one of the show places of the city. At times the wind reached a velocity of 120 miles an hour and streets were filled with flying debris. Residents crowded into hotels and downtown office buildings for protection.

One report said that Biloxi, Gulfport and Pascagoula suffered heavily. Little damage was done in Mobile. A relief train was to leave here today for towns down the coast.

This message, by wireless from the steamers Excelsior and Creole, came from New Orleans at 2 a. m.

"Ten persons are known to have been killed, 150 injured and property loss exceeding $1,000,000, caused by the destructive West Indian hurricane which struck this city at 6 o'clock last night.
At intervals a terrific gale swept through the city at a velocity of 120 to 150 miles an hour, according to the figures of the local weather bureau, and the average prevailing velocity between 5:30 and 7 p. m. was in excess of 90 miles an hour.

"Many schools and churches have been damaged. The famous French market has been partly demolished.
"Owing to precautions taken on receipt of weather warnings yesterday's damage to shipping is slight except to small craft."

"At 3:30 o'clock the hurricane had subsided."

The Mississippi River levees below
New Orleans broke and houses were washed away.

Reports from New Orleans before communication by land wires was lost said the city was in darkness because of the flooding of electric light plants. Wind had driven the water in Lake Pontchar-train above the sea wall and Milneburg and other New Orleans suburbs along the lake were partially under water.
The advices said automobiles were bringing in the inhabitants of that section and that no loss of life had been reported.

West Indian Storm Causing Heavy Rains in the South.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—The West Indian hurricane was centered over the interior of Mississippi this morning, but it had greatly diminished in force. The storm, however, is not over, as it maintains considerable intensity and is causing general rains throughout the South Atlantic and East Gulf States and Tennessee. During the night it caused winds of hurricane force on the middle Gulf coast, and the Weather Bureau outlined a continuance of storm warnings along the Gulf coast from Mobile to Cedar Key, Fla., and to the Atlantic Coast from Jacksonville to Wilmington, N. C.

Indications are that the storm is moving in a northeasterly direction and that it will cause rains during the next 24 hours everywhere east of the Mississippi River, except in the upper lake region.

Two Illinois Central Passenger Trains Are Lost.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 30.—Wire communication south of McComb City, Miss., is cut off and all efforts to find two Illinois Central passenger trains between that city and New Orleans are futile.

Governor Announces Decision at Sedalia Fair and Speaker Will Get Place in Hall of Fame at Panama-Pacific Fair.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SEDALIA, Mo., Sept. 30.—Champ
Clark, Speaker of the National House of Representatives, is the greatest living Missourian, according to an announcement made by Gov. Elliott W.
Major, in an address at the State Fair today. Charles Moore, president of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, had asked the Governor to name the greatest living Missourian.

Messages giving the decision were flushed to Moore at San Francisco and one to Speaker Clark, who is at St. Joseph, Mo.

Governor's Telegram to Moore.
The Governor's telegram to Moore was as follows:
"By virtue of authority vested in me by you as President of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, directing me to select and name the greatest living Missourian, I have the honor to advise I have this day, in compliance with your request, selected the Hon. Champ Clark of Bowling Green, Pike County, Mo., present Speaker of the National House of Representatives."

The telegram to the Speaker read:
"The Panama-Pacific International Exposition has requested me, as chief executive of the State, to name the greatest living Missourian. It gives me pleasure to advise I have this day named you as the greatest living Missourian. I, perhaps, know you personally, and your character and life work better than any other man in public life. You merit this tribute by reason of your achievements, the splendid service you have rendered both State and nation and the honors and distinctions bestowed upon you by an appreciative people."

ESTATE APPRAISED AT $5.45 FOUND TO BE WORTH $40,000

Administrator Discovers That J.
McNally Had Fortune
Deposited in Bank.

The discovery that J. J. McNally, 71 years old, who died Sept. 3, and whose estate was at first appraised at $5.45, left more than $40,000 in bank deposits, a bond and cash, caused the bond of the estate's administrator, James L.
Monahan of 3233 Marquette avenue, to be increased today in the Probate Court from $500 to $30,000.

Monahan's first inventory of McNally's property, filed soon after McNally died, itemized, as his effects, three suits of clothing, an overcoat, bedding, two bottles of whisky and one bottle of wine.

Later, in looking through McNally's effects, Monahan found six certificates of deposit of the St. Louis Valley Trust Co., payable next March, for a total of $29,333.33; a $100 bond of the Laclede Gas Light Co. and $75.44 cash. He filed an amended inventory showing these assets, and the order for an inventory bond was issued today. Monahan furnished the new bond.

Monahan, who is a title examiner in the Recorder of Deeds' office, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he had not been acquainted with McNally in the latter's lifetime, and that he did not remember the number of the house where McNally had lived, but that it was on Carr street. He said he was acquainted with McNally's sister, Mrs. Mary Gallagher, living on Sixteenth street, between Biddle and O'Fallon streets, and that he became administrator of the estate at her request. She supposed the estate to be a small one, he said, and was surprised at finding the money.

FAILS TO SHOW JURY TAMPERING IN CAMPBELL CASE

Lawyer Ottofy Not Allowed to Use Jurors to Try to Impeach Their Own Verdict.

GIVES NOTICE OF APPEAL

Jourdan Shouts, "You Lie,"
When Defense Is Charged With Approaching Jurymen.

After an inquiry in Circuit Judge Kinsey's court today, in the course of which Attorney Morton Jourdan answered one of Attorney L. Frank Ottofy's statements by jumping to his feet and calling out, "You lie," Ottofy filed a formal notice that he would take an appeal to the Supreme Court from the jury's decision in the famous James Campbell will contest.

Today's inquiry was started on a motion made several days ago by Ottofy, asking that the Court make an investigation to determine whether representatives of the Campbell estate had influenced the jury. Ottofy's clients, nephews and nieces were defeated in the will contest case when a jury decided that Mrs. Lois Ann Burkham was the legal heir of James Campbell.

Eleven of the 12 jurors were in court today. Summonses had been issued for all of them, but papers were not served on William Blinn.

Morton Jourdan, F. N. Judson, Ben F.
Schurman and E. V. P. Schneider-hahn of counsel for the Campbell estate were present. Jourdan objected to the form of inquiry asked by Ottofy, on the ground that jurors could not be used to impeach their own verdict.

Man Is Put on Stand.
Ottofy put James M. Sullivan of 44
Kennerly avenue on the stand and asked him whether on the day after the Campbell verdict he heard the verdict discussed in a saloon near the Liggett & Myers tobacco factory, where he worked.

He was not permitted to answer, as he said he did not know anyone who took part in the discussion, except the saloon proprietor, Benjamin Christopher, one of the jurors, was asked to stand up. Sullivan could not identify him as having been in the discussion.

Christophel then was called to the stand. Ottofy asked him if he did not say in the saloon that "it was the rottenest verdict ever pulled off and two-thirds of the jurors ought to go over the road."

Judge Kinsey sustained an objection and would not permit Christophel to answer.

Christophel said no one had ever approached him when he was a juror. Ottofy asked if he didn't remember a tall, smooth-faced man who was at the trial and who fraternized with the jurors between court sessions. He said he did not.

Deaf saying "Something Wrong."
Christophel also denied that he told Campbell's sister, Mrs. Rosa V. Curtis, that "something was wrong with the jury."

Ottofy said he had tried to get as a witness Charles Steel, who he said had been employed by the defense as a detective during the trial and who had attempted to fraternize with the jury.

"That is in keeping with other statements you have made," said Jourdan.
"You are trying to reflect on the integrity of the jury."

"I am trying to show you and your detectives tried to influence the jury," said Ottofy.

It was at this point that Jourdan cried out, "You lie."

After being stopped by many objections in trying to continue the inquiry, Ottofy said he would consent to the overruling of all pending motions, and filed his notice of appeal.

Berlin's Official Report Admits the Loss of Hill
191—British and French Hold High Ground Dominating Lens, the Key to the Recapture of Lille.

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, Sept. 30, by wireless to Sayville.—"German newspapers all point out the importance of the battle now in progress on the western front," says the Overseas News Agency. "The newspapers say it is useless to minimize the importance of the struggle, but they point out that the German nation can well look into the future with confidence."

PARIS, Sept. 30.—In continuation of the general offensive movement on the western front, the French have captured an important defensive work of the Germans south of Ripont, it was officially announced by the War Office today.

In the Champagne French troops have gained a footing at various points on the German second line of defense, the official statement adds.

The text of the war office statement follows:
"The only resistance of the enemy in the Artois district has been a very violent bombardment of our new positions to the east of Souchez.
"In the Champagne district we have secured a footing at several points in the trenches of the German second line of defense, to the west of Butte de Tahure and to the west of the Navarin farm. At this latter point certain detachments of our troops made their way through and resolutely advanced beyond the German lines, but it was impossible for them to maintain this advance because of a curtain of fire maintained by the German artillery as well as very violent flanking rifle fire. Our men, however, hold firmly the points conquered by them on the second line of the enemy.

"To the south of Ripont we have enlarged and completed our conquest of the first line German positions by taking possession of a portion of the important supporting works known locally as the Ouvrage de la Defaite (the defeat earthworks). (Ripont is four miles northwest of Massiges, back of which lies an important junction on the railway which parallels the German front in this region.)

"The night passed quietly along the remainder of the front.
"In spite of most unfavorable atmospheric conditions our aircraft squadrons yesterday bombarded the lines of communication behind the German front. Shells were thrown down on the railroad stations in the Valley of the Sulpice, at Bazancourt, Warnerville, Pont Favager and St.
Hilaire-le-Petit, as well as upon a German column marching near Somme-Py."

Berlin Admits Loss of Hill 191;
Battle in Champagne "Very Bitter"

BERLIN, via London, Sept. 30.—Loss of another position in France to the allies, as a result of the great battle now in progress, is announced in the official statement from the War Office today. The Germans lost Hill No.
191, a position in the Champagne region north of the town of Massiges.

The text of the statement follows:
"Yesterday the enemy continued his attempts to break through our lines only in the Champagne region.
"South of the Menin-lynes road a position occupied by two English companies was blown up.
"North of Loos our counter attack progressed slowly.
"Southeast of Souchez the French succeeded in penetrating our lines in two small sections. Fighting continues.
"A French attack south of Arras was easily repulsed.
"Battles between Rheims and the Argonne were very bitter. South of St. Marie-Py an enemy brigade broke through our outer lines of trenches."

Allies Hold Ground Dominating
Lens, Key to Recapture of Lille

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—The great struggle on the western front has now resolved itself clearly into a battle for Lens, in Pas de Calais, nine miles northwest of Arras. The capture of this town, with its radiating railways, would bring into the foreground the possibility of retaking Lille.

Both north and south of Lens the allies hold high ground dominating the town—the British on Hill No. 9, the French on Hill No. 10. The high crest position at stake. Rain, fog and soggy ground have been hampering both the contenders and limiting the activities of aircraft. A few days of clear, dry weather might have a marked bearing on developments.

The offensive of the allies thus far has been confined to stretches of the front amounting to less than 30 miles in all. The general belief in England is that these attacks are only the prelude to what is coming.

There is the usual speculation as to the shifting of German forces from the east to the west, although anything like reliable information is lacking. As against the report that some Prussian guards have been hurried west, there are rumors that Field Marshal von Hindenburg, still bent on taking Drina-has been reinforced heavily.

Last night's announcement by the Paris War Office was as follows:
"Throughout the day the battles have continued on the heights between Souchez and Vimy; we have maintained all the new positions conquered.
"In Champagne the struggle is still

15 NEGROES TAKE FREE BRIDGE JOBS WHITE MEN LEFT

Union Concrete Workers Quit Without Giving Reason—Labor Conference Saturday.

Fifteen negroes were put to work this morning on the east approach of the new bridge, in place of 15 white men who had been working there.

The negroes are from the Street Department, and are said to be handy at concrete work.

The hiring of the negroes was in line with the policy of President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service, and Supt. Fisk of the bridge work, which is not to let the progress of the work be stopped by labor disturbances.

The city is paying the union wage scale in all branches.

A conference between the city officials and representatives of labor unions was held for Saturday morning in the Mayor's office.

There was to have been held yesterday, but Kinsey was not there. The unions demand that R. M. Graham, assistant superintendent, who they say, has given offense to the unions in the past, and who is accused of requiring men of one trade to do the work belonging to another trade, be removed.

Graham will probably be summoned to attend the conference.

Beside the 15 concrete men, 21 union employees in other branches are out, and their places are being taken by nonunion men.

The discharge of four union steamfitters, who refused to do a piece of work in the manner ordered by Graham, precipitated the conflict.

SEMI-CENTRAL VALLEY HOORNE WON'T LET WALL INTRODUCE 8C WATER BILL

Parade This Afternoon to Be Followed by Barbecue, Public Dance and Pageant.

Kirkwood is celebrating today the fifth anniversary of its incorporation. The town, which was gaily decorated in the celebration colors, red, white and gold, began filling this morning, although the exercises were not due to begin until 1 o'clock, and it was expected that there would be 10,000 visitors on hand during the afternoon and evening, the largest crowd ever entertained in the town.

The final preparations for the parade and pageant and other features of the celebration afforded amusement to the crowds during the morning. The ancient Missouri Pacific engine which is to be used in the part of the pageant portraying the completion of the railroad and the running of the first train, ran under its own steam from the railroad yard to the temporary headquarters of the celebration, drawing an equally ancient coach, and celebrated the achievement by whistling shrilly.

Working men were busy in the temporary track over which the first Kirkwood street car is to travel in the pageant. The ox team and cart brought from Fossil to depict earlier methods of travel were surrounded by a crowd.

The parade formed at noon on Harrison avenue, north of Main street. It was headed by the First Regiment Band of St. Louis and two companies of militia. The band and soldiers were followed by speakers in carriages, Mayor Kiel of St. Louis and Mayor Matthews of Kirkwood, citizens who have lived in the town 50 years, city officials and members of the Board of Education.

Members of various civic organizations rode in decorated automobiles. There were about 100 floats.

The historical pageant is to be given on Oakwood lawn. It will begin at 7 o'clock and will be under the direction of Miss Nina B. Lamkin, its author. A dress rehearsal took place yesterday afternoon on the lawn and those who were permitted to see it were enthusiastic.

CARRANZAISTS SAID TO HAVE SHOT CAPTURED U.S. SOLDIER

Mexican Makes Affidavit That One of the "First Chief's" Generals Led Raiders Who Crossed Border Friday Night.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 30.—The Carranza commander at Las Pailas, Mexico, headed the attacking party of Mexicans who crossed the border last Friday night and in a fight with American soldiers captured Trooper Richard C. Johnson, whom they shot and then mutilated by taking his head and ears as souvenirs. It has been reported to Southern Department headquarters by Capt. Frank R. McCoy, Guadalupe Cuellar, a Mexican, who said he was one of the attacking party, gave the details of the fight to Capt. McCoy in a sworn statement.

Cuellar was arrested several days ago by civil authorities and is held in connection with the investigation of the Carranza fight, during which Johnson disappeared.

Capt. McCoy, who commands the border sub-district of Mission, summarized the affidavit of Cuellar as follows: "Under command of the Carranza officer stationed at Las Pailas, with his troops, recently arrived from Matamoros, a crossing was made during the night in their boats. The detachment of American soldiers at the crossing was shot up and overpowered. One, presumably Richard Johnson, was made a prisoner and taken across to the Mexican side, where he was, without provocation, shot five times, his ears and head cut off and carried away as souvenirs, and the remains thrown into the Rio Grande. The horses and arms captured from the American detachment were taken across and held in the cuartel of the Carranza soldiers at Las Pailas, which is only a quarter of a mile from the crossing and scene of the fight."

Johnson's home was in Mount Morris, N. Y. He was 21 years old.

Gen. Obregon Reports Capture of Carranza From Villa Forces. VERA CRUZ, Sept. 30.—The City of Torreon fell to Gen. Obregon late yesterday afternoon, according to a brief telegram from Gen. Obregon to Gen. Carranza.

The occupation of Torreon gives Carranza command of the southern end of the main line of the Villa railways to Juarez and of the line running to Durango City.

On this basis of estimate, the city for each six-month period, has lost through Assessor Burton's failure to enforce the 1912 ordinance, the following: First district, $500; second district, $877; third district, $877; and fourth district, $350, a total of $18,754. In the five semi-annual periods that have elapsed since the 8-cent rate was repealed, the city would be out $35,770 on this basis of calculation.

Assessor Burton, yesterday estimated the loss in revenue at $72,000 a year, but today said that he concurred with the lower estimate made by Commissioner Wall. No actual calculation of loss has been made except for the 178 manufacturers affected by the October bills of this year.

No further action has been taken against Assessor Burton by his superiors, and they apparently regard his error in assessing water rates as a closed incident. Assessor Burton has contended he was not aware the 8-cent rate to manufacturers had been repealed until about four months ago, when a clerk in the office told him of it.

vote their time to more practical work. The business session opened at 9 o'clock with a roll call of ministers. Each responded with a statement of how he had lived up to the standards of the church and carried out its discipline during the year.

There was an affecting scene when the Rev. Thomas H. Hagerdy of 1629 North Grand avenue, a retired minister, responded to his name. He is 85 years old. He told of his life as a minister, beginning with services as a chaplain in the Civil War. Many of the delegates were weeping when he concluded with:

"Now I am getting old, and I feel it necessary to ask that this conference place me on the supernumerary list."

Went on the Honor Roll. A vote of appreciation of the services was taken, and Bishop W. O. Shepard of Kansas City said:

"You go on the list, on the honor roll, and God bless you."

When the name of the Rev. L. M. Birkhead, who several months ago announced that he felt he was out of touch with the Methodist Church, was called, District Superintendent Crissman, announced that he had received word that the Rev. Mr. Birkhead wished to return his church letters, and wished to end his membership in the conference. The letters were accepted without discussion. Dr. Birkhead was pastor of the Wagoner Memorial Church.

In his official communication to the conference yesterday, the district superintendent recommended a "campaign of silence" in regard to Dr. Birkhead. This is a practice which avoids all mention of the person involved and is in effect an ignoring of his existence.

Dr. Crissman reported that the Rev. A. R. Lint, who succeeded to the Wagoner pastorate, had found the congregation almost disorganized and facing a large deficit but that his excellent management had brought order out of the situation and gone far towards clearing away the debt.

Half a Hog for Services. One circuit rider, in responding to his name, said that in the last two months he had received a half of a hog and a great many eggs, but no money for his services. He said he had been able to send the District Superintendent 12 dozen eggs.

Another circuit rider said he had received $18 for two months' work, and another said that while he had received no money, he had been entertained by the church members in places he visited, and that they had procured to buy a horse for him this winter.

The election of delegates to the national conference, over which there is a contest, was made a special order of business for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Harford Crawford, a lay delegate, spoke on the coming national missionary campaign. He said conventions would be held in about 75 cities. The Rev. Thomas Nicholson of St. Louis spoke on "Education in the Home." After the business session the Bishop held an informal reception.

PRESIDENT ASKS FOR STAY IN MAN'S DEATH BY SHOOTING

President Acts at Request of Swedish Minister in Case of Utah Prisoner.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—At the request of the Swedish Minister, W. A. F. Klenegren, President Wilson today telegraphed to Gov. Spry of Utah, asking for a stay of execution for Joseph Hillstrom, a Swedish subject, sentenced to be shot in the Utah State Penitentiary tomorrow. Hillstrom was convicted of murder.

The President today received a telegram from the Swedish Minister, who said he was convinced that Hillstrom had not had a fair trial, and that his Government had instructed him to make representations in behalf of the man. The Swedish Minister said that he believed that insolent behavior of Hillstrom during his trial had prejudiced the court and jury against him.

The Minister told the President there was no time to submit evidence before the date of Hillstrom's execution. In his telegram to Gov. Spry, the President asked that Hillstrom's execution be stayed to allow additional evidence to be offered for a new trial.

Mrs. J. Sergeant Cram, wife of a member of the New York Public Service Commission and Miss Elizabeth G. Flynn of New York, an organizer of the Industrial Workers of the World, called at the White House yesterday in behalf of Hillstrom, but did not see the President. They saw Acting-Secretary Polk of the State Department, who promised to forward the representations made by the Swedish Minister to Gov. Spry.

The women said they had become convinced that Hillstrom had not had a fair hearing.

An Easy Way to Get Fat and Be Strong

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on dragging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams," or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

There is a preparation known to reliable druggists almost everywhere which seemingly embodies the missing elements of a healthy diet. It is a simple, natural, and easily assimilated food, and it is the only one that will build up your system and make you fat and strong.

ROCK ISLAND SUIT CHARGES MISUSE OF $7,500,000

Receiver Begins Proceedings Against Directors Under Reid-Moore Regime.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Directors of the Rock Island Railroad system under the regime of Daniel G. Reid and William H. Moore are defendants in a restitution suit for $7,500,000 brought yesterday by Jacob M. Dickinson, receiver for the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Co., the operating company of the Rock Island combination.

It is alleged that as directors of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Co. (the holding company for the railway company), Reid and Moore and their fellow directors unlawfully diverted "in their own interest" the sum of $7,500,000 from the treasury of the railway company into the treasury of the railroad company. This was used, it is alleged, toward the redemption of a bond issue, part of which was pledged by the railroad company against stock of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad, which the railroad company wanted to sell and did sell to B. F. Yorkum.

The fact that the railroad company was at that time financially embarrassed is given in the complaint as the reason why the defendants caused the funds to be diverted. Reid and Moore and Ogden Mills "being then largely interested in the bonds of the railroad company and in the stock and securities of the New Jersey corporation (the Rock Island company), which then owned the capital stock of the railroad company."

Suit Directed by Court.
The suit was brought by the receiver by direction of the Federal Court in Chicago. The transaction on which it is based is the same as that which was brought out in evidence at the investigation several months ago of Rock Island affairs by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The complaint sets forth that in December, 1908, Benjamin F. Yorkum, head of the St. Louis & San Francisco system, purchased from the Chicago & Rock Island Railroad Co. 289,403 shares of Frisco stock for $10,822,812. This stock the railroad company previously had pledged as security against its own bonds, issued in part payment for the stock when it was originally purchased by the railroad company from the Frisco company.

In order to redeem these bonds, so as to release the stock, the company was obliged, it is alleged, to put up the total sum of $18,167,273, representing the total issue of the bonds. It was therefore necessary to obtain practically $7,500,000 in cash. In order to do this, the complaint alleges, the defendants as directors in both companies unlawfully, without authority and in violation of the rights and interests of the railway company and of its creditors and stockholders, caused the railway company to loan the required sum to the railroad company. As security for the loan, it is alleged, the defendants caused the railway company to accept unsecured debentures of the railroad company, which they knew were "worthless and of no value, and that the same did not afford proper or adequate security for the repayment to the railway company of the money so diverted from its resources as aforesaid."

Transaction Described as Fraud.
The transaction is described in the complaint "as a fraud upon the railway company, its stockholders and creditors and upon the public," and charges the defendants with neglecting "to exercise their fair and honest discretion" as directors and with being guilty of "a breach of their fiduciary duty."

The complaint points out that the railroad company is now insolvent and has been unable to repay to the railway company the money alleged to have been diverted.

Moore and Reid and William B. Leeds, the latter deceased, are described in the preliminary matter of the complaint as having "combined, agreed and conspired" in 1902 to obtain control of the railway company and its assets "to further the personal and selfish interests of themselves and of such other persons as should, from time to time, become parties to such conspiracy."

The defendants named are Daniel G. Reid, William H. Moore, Richard A. Jackson, Francis L. Hine, William T. Graham, Ogden Mills, Edward S. Moore, Henry U. Mudge, George T. Boers and the executors of George G. McMurtry, deceased.

Mudge has been receiver with Dickinson, but resigned this week because of the suit, and has been appointed chief operating officer of the railway by Federal Judge Carpenter of Chicago. The two stockholders' protective committees, engaged in the reorganization of the Rock Island Railroad Co., have agreed on a common slate for seven vacancies in the directorate of the road to be filled at the annual stockholders' meeting Oct. 14.

The candidates are: Edward D. Hulbert, president Merchants' Loan and Savings Bank, Chicago; Charles G. Dawes, president Central Trust Co., Chicago; John G. Shedd of Marshall Field & Co., Chicago; John R. Morron, Atlas Portland Cement Co., New York; Judge Nathaniel French, Davenport, Ia.; William B. Thompson, director Federal Reserve Bank, New York City and Joel W. Burdick, president of the West Penn Steel Co., Pittsburgh.

It is stated that these men have agreed to accept nomination with the understanding that there will be no contest for the positions.

The Palace, 516 Washington Av., Reopens Oct. 1st. Complete new stock.

42 SHOTS FIRED INTO BODY OF UNITED RAILWAYS CO. FOREMAN

Assaultant Was Hidden in Woods—
Man's Condition Not Serious—
Discharged Laborers Being Hunted.

Several laborers, recently discharged by the United Railways Co., are being sought following the shooting last night of Clements Schonhoff, 27 years old, of 1602A Caga avenue, a foreman in charge of a sand car crew.

Schonhoff was at the junction of the Belt line and Ferguson-Kirkwood tracks, just north of Suburban Garden, about 1:30 o'clock, when he was fired upon from ambush and wounded in the back of his head, neck and right arm with buckshot. A surgeon counted 42 punctures. His condition is not serious.

Men searched the woods from where the shot was fired, but were unable to trace the assailant. The foreman recently discharged five men and they had called at his home several times in an effort to be reinstated.

PRIEST INDICTED FOR FAILING TO MAKE MARRIAGE RETURNS

HILLSBORO, Mo., Sept. 30.—One of the first indictments against a clergyman for violation of the law requiring all ministers and justices of the peace to make prompt return on the license under which they have performed marriage ceremonies, was found by the grand jury of this county.

The indictment is against the Rev. M. Holtschneider of the Catholic church at Festus and Crystal City.

The grand jury ascertained that no return had been made to County Recorder Eccles in 30 licenses issued for residents of Platten and Joachim Townships and sent a special Deputy Sheriff to ascertain whether the couples who had obtained the licenses had been married. In each instance the deputy was informed that the ceremony had been performed by Father Holtschneider.

The violation of the statute requiring the return of marriage licenses is classified as a misdemeanor and a fine of $10 is prescribed. Father Holtschneider, the county authorities say, had been notified of his failure to make returns on marriage licenses.

WIRELESS PHONE CARRIES VOICE FROM ARLINGTON TO HONOLULU, 4600 MILES

Results of Further Tests Announced After President of Tel-Tel Company Talks to San Francisco From New York,

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 30.—The statement was made by officials of telephone companies here today that at last midnight messages by wireless telephone were sent from the wireless telegraph station at Arlington, Va., to Honolulu, Hawaii, a distance of about 4600 miles. It is stated that the tests were a complete success.

It is understood that these tests were additional to ones already announced having been made yesterday at Arlington and Mare Island Navy Yard. The tests were made by employees of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. at both stations.

poration and leading scientist in the business of communication, caught the voice of his friend.

"Yes, I hear you! This is fine! This is wonderful! He said the distance had been accomplished. The sound of Vail's voice had crossed the continent, had spanned the thousand leagues of farm land, prairie and mountain, almost entirely through the air, almost entirely without the use of wires. The wireless telephone, long sought, had been proved a complete success.

Vail's words went from his office over wire, to the top of the United States naval radio tower at Arlington, Va., which is 860 feet high. From that point without interruption, they leaped into the air and sped to the top of the naval radio station at Mare Island, which is 330 feet above sea level. There Carly heard them.

It was more than a wireless telephone test. It was a test of wire, then wireless communication.

Had there been a radio tower of sufficient height in New York City, the message might have been sent entirely through the air. But that would have been easier to do than what actually was done.

Carly's reply to the president of the company was made over a wireless phone, because there was no wireless sending apparatus at Mare Island. If there had been one, and a tower here the entire conversation would have been through the air.

"What a glorious success!" exclaimed Vail, as he listened to Carly's voice. "I want to congratulate you and the others who have brought it about." This went by wire and air.

"What next?" answered the engineer. "We can't tell, eh?" This came by wire.

Vail spoke certain sentences through the air and asked Carly to repeat them to show he was actually hearing. To the president of the company and to a score or so of others who sat close to him, each with a receiver at his ear, came back the words, repeated exactly.

It was the culmination of many months of tests at lesser distances. It became known at the New York office of the telephone company that, in August, Carly had talked with Lieut. Cranshaw, an army officer stationed at Panama, which is 1800 miles away.

The discovery is of tremendous significance in the work of long-distance communication. For instance, it would have been much easier, it was declared by Carly from San Francisco, to have talked to London, Paris or Berlin than to talk to San Francisco. Were it not for the war that very thing might have been done yesterday.

It will eventually be a very simple matter, Carly said, to call up a friend who is on a ship in midocean and have conversation with him. And, eventually, again, there will be no place, no desert, mountain top, jungle—which will not have its telephone station—because the stringing of wires, Carly explained, will not be necessary. The remotest hamlet will simply have its wireless telephone.

Reporter's Hour Talk.

A Post-Dispatch correspondent here was permitted to have a nearly an hour of talk with Carly last evening, between 10 o'clock and 11 o'clock, in the office of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. in San Francisco. It was just as easy as though the reporter had been in one of the booths of his office and the engineer had been in a club a block away.

"Will the wireless telephone ever replace the wire telephone?" he was asked.

"I do not think so," Carly replied. "In my belief, the number of wireless telephone calls will remain in the thousands, while the wire calls run up into billions. Wireless telephony is a much more difficult process. As I see it now, the greatest value of the wireless telephone will be in reaching places where wires cannot be strung—for instance, deserts, jungles, remote mountain tops, and so on."

"How about talking to a ship at sea? How about talking across the ocean?"

"Well, as this stand on the floor," the away engineer answered, "the editor there could as readily call up his correspondent in London and give him instructions about sending war news as he could call up a reporter in St. Louis. I think there is no doubt we could easily reach ships at sea, if they were properly equipped, and have wireless telephone communication with those on board."

"Will this be of value to the navy?"

Carly was asked.

"I want to say," he replied, "that the navy has been most kind and courteous in allowing us the use of its towers and in co-operation with us in every possible way. While the invention is the property of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. alone, I would like to say that the United States navy and no other navy will have it."

"Would it be possible to send a secret message by wireless telephony?" Would it not be possible for anyone having a receiving apparatus to "listen in?"

Carly laughed. "Yes," he said. "I guess it would. As things are now, anyone who could tune a receiving instrument into the same pitch as our court here, everything that was said. In fact, I suppose Mr. Vail's remarks to me were heard by hundreds of persons throughout the country. As a matter of fact, more persons will be able to listen in on a wireless telephone conversation than now are able to listen in on a party line wire telephone."

The possibilities seemed to amuse him. "But perhaps that may be remedied some time," he added.

"Stattie" Causes Trouble.

Asked again about the fascinating prospect of talking to ships at sea, Carly said:

"We have to content, there with the

$250 NEEDED FOR PURE MILK FUND TO REACH $5000

Elders Must Give Their Help, It Is Believed, if Sum Is Realized.

CONTRIBUTIONS. Previously acknowledged $4414.11

The success attending the benefit entertainment for the needy infants of St. Louis by girls and boys residing in Nebraska and Pennsylvania avenues, Saturday and Sunday, as reported in the Post-Dispatch yesterday, was a striking example of the spirit animating the youthful army that for 11 years has splendidly sustained the worthy cause.

For three weeks these children had been in attendance upon the public schools five days a week. Only Saturdays and Sundays remained for them as recreation periods. The girls and boys, who added more than $25 to the Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund, drew liberally upon their play time to organize the benefit and gave much of two days to carrying out the plan. It was to that dozen children the form of play highest in yield of individual pleasure, bringing realization that the return would be life and health to poor babies.

There are but few Saturdays and Sundays remaining of the campaign season in which school girls and boys may devote their energies and talents to the cause of the little ones in distress. The Post-Dispatch has not been advised of further organized endeavors for the relief fund, but that does not mean that they are not under way, for no advance information was given as to the affair in Nebraska avenue.

The final $233 from the Roberson travelogues at the Odeon, which close Sunday, will make the aggregate about $450. That is $250 short of the $5000 it is hoped to make this year's record. The total may be reached and the relief work of the St. Louis Pure Milk Commission and the Free Ice and Diet Circle of King's Daughters made possible to the extent the need for it suggests, but it would seem to be probable only through generous aid from elder persons.

FRANK M. DAVID MADE HEAD OF MISSOURI BAR ASSOCIATION

Eugene Blodgett of St. Louis on Executive Committee—Hospitality Day at Kansas City Convention. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 30.—Today was "Hospitality day" for the meeting of the Missouri Bar Association here. WOMEN TO HAVE IMPORTANT PART IN ST. LOUIS FAIR

Suffrage and Other Organizations to Be in Charge of Special Programs.

Women and women's organizations will have an important part in the St. Louis Agricultural Fair, at Maxwellton, on the St. Charles rock road, next week.

A women's tea room and rest room will be maintained on the grounds, and there will be addresses every afternoon on topics of interest to women. Friday will be Missouri Clubwomen's day, with a special program extending through the day; the Woman's Council will be hostess.

The Monday and Tuesday afternoon programs at the women's headquarters will be in charge of the suffrage organizations, the St. Louis branch of the Equal Suffrage League having charge Monday, and the suburban branches Tuesday. Mrs. Alice C. Moyer Wing and Mrs. Kate O'Hare will be among the speakers.

The Consumers' League will have charge Wednesday afternoon, and the Baby Welfare Board will give a demonstration clinic Thursday afternoon, with talks by Mrs. Edmund F. Board, Dr. G. Kippman and Miss Burkhardt, the board's supervising nurse. The Business Women's League will have charge of the Saturday afternoon program.

The Friday afternoon program, in charge of the Woman's Council, and with Missouri clubwomen as guests, will include addresses by Mayor Kiel and Postmaster Selph; Mrs. W. R. Chivvis, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Harry Shedd of Sedalia, president of the Home Aakers' Conference; Miss Carrie L. Panncoat of Columbia; Miss Anne Evans of the United States Department of Agriculture; Mrs. H. C. January of the Consumers' League; Mrs. Emily C. Ruge of the Juvenile Court, and Mrs. W. C. Fordyce of the suffrage organization. The city and suburban branches of the National Congress of Mothers will have a daily exhibition on the grounds, with charts and talks on the work of the Congress.

As a feature of the racing program for Thursday afternoon, a race between August A. Busch, the brewer, and his son, Adolphus Busch III, each driving a coach and four, is scheduled. They have raced twice before, at the St. Louis County Fair, and each has won once.

There will be no commercialized betting in connection with the races, and if any bets are made, they will be made by and between individuals. Gambling devices and games of chance, it has been announced, will not be permitted on the grounds. Concessionaries serving food and drinks will be required to post a price schedule, and to adhere to it. Advertising matter will be distributed only from the exhibit booths of each concern.

The Palace, 616 Washington Av., Reopens Oct. 1st. Complete new stock.

TEACHERS' UNION RULE MODIFIED

Chicago Board Amends Order After Injunction Is Issued.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—An amendment to the rule of the Board of Education, prohibiting teachers from holding membership in the Chicago Teachers' Federation was passed at yesterday's meeting of the Board.

Superior Court Judge John M. O'Connor issued an injunction recently restraining the Board from enforcing the original rule. This rule prohibited membership by members of the Education Department of the Board in any organization having officers not employed by the Board or in organizations affiliated with the Federation of Labor. In the amendment offered by Vice President Jacob M. Loeb that part of the rule relating to the officers not being members of the teaching force was stricken out.

MOVIES HURT THE SALOONS

Higher License Also to Drive Out 600 in New York City.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The increase of 500 in the State retail liquor license fees, which becomes effective tomorrow, will force 600 saloons out of business in Manhattan and Brooklyn and reduce the city's share in this revenue about $500,000, according to estimates of the officers of retail liquor dealers' associations. The increase brings the cost of the licenses up to $1500.

The Excise Commissioner for Manhattan said today that he believed that people were not drinking as much now as in past years and that, in his opinion, moving pictures kept men from saloons.

The finest harbor in the world is at Rio Janeiro and the city appropriated millions of dollars to build around it a boulevard of mosaic. You will see this in pictures by Frank R. Robinson tonight at the Odéon. Admission is 10 cents, with the coupon on the first page of today's Post-Dispatch, or 25 cents for a reserved seat.

ANTON LANG KILLED IN BATTLE

A letter received by Miss Isabel Brown, president of the St. Louis Society of Applied Arts, tells of the death in battle of Anton Lang, who played the part of Christ in the last Passion Play at Oberammergau. The letter, which was written by a business acquaintance of Miss Brown, stated that Lang was killed in July when fighting with the German army.

He was a potter and worked at this trade during the 10 years intervening between each Passion Play. Some of his work, marked with his initials, is on display at the Society of Applied Arts, 2612 Washington boulevard. A number of St. Louisans saw Lang in the play at Oberammergau.

BRIDE OF TWO DAYS RELEASED, HUSBAND HELD

Alfred Hebert to Be Prosecuted on Fraud Warrant Issued Last January.

Mrs. Dorothy Scheuer Hebert of 3343 McPherson avenue, a bride of two days, who was arrested yesterday on a charge of taking a $175 diamond ring from her cousin, Fred Silberstein of 5793 Westminister place, was released last night when Silberstein notified the police that he would not prosecute her.

Alfred A. Hebert, her husband, was held, however, under a warrant obtained against him last January by the American Educational Institution, 625 Locust street. Hebert was formerly employed by the institution as a solicitor. It is alleged that he collected $5 commission on a pretended sale.

Mrs. Hebert parted from her husband tearfully after assuring him that she would stick to him and try to get him out of his trouble.

When Hebert was informed that he would have to be photographed, he threw open his coat and exclaimed: "You can shoot me on the spot, but I will never permit my picture to be taken." He did not resist, however, when he was placed in a chair in front of the camera.

Silberstein denied the statements of Mrs. Hebert that her marriage to Hebert was opposed because Hebert was a Gentle and that it was the wish of her aunt, Silberstein's mother, that she should have the ring she was accused of stealing. Silberstein said his mother died suddenly, without making known her wishes concerning the distribution of her possessions. Her husband, Joseph Silberstein, divided the jewelry among relatives, giving Mrs. Hebert a ring, but not the one she claims. He says he did not know, when he reported to the police the disappearance of the diamond ring, that his cousin had been married.

Great Annual Fall Sale at AEOLIAN HALL

Used Pianos in Superb Condition—Genuine Pianolas, like New—At Record Low Prices

Wonderful Piano Values
The used Pianos in this Sale are not "discarded" instruments. They are excellent pianos that have seen hardly any use. And here is the reason:
There are hundreds of fine pianos in this city owned by people who cannot play them. These people are bringing their unused pianos here and exchanging them for the Pianola—the piano that everyone can play.

Genuine Pianola Bargains
The Pianola is the world's standard player-piano. It was the first of its style of instrument and has constantly maintained its commanding lead over all imitations. The introduction of the magnificent Steinway and Weber Duo-Art Pianolas, has brought many stock models back to us from our customers in exchange for these costlier instruments.
The exchanged Pianolas have all been rigorously overhauled. Adjusters, tuners and polishers have made each one practically a new instrument.

The Gardner Good Roads Plan

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I notice a good many of your editorials advocate good roads. But so far only one plan has been suggested that really provides revenue to do the work. That is the plan suggested by Col. F. D. Gardner that the State furnish convicts to perform the labor, and that a tax of $10 a year for five years be paid by every automobile owner in the State. I think this is absolutely the correct plan. Namely, that the wealth of the cities should be used in some way to help build State highways. If the farmers keep up the county roads they will be doing their full share. However, one-third of the automobiles in the State are owned over by farmers, so the cities would not be overtaxed.

The people of the city who own very heavy automobiles and trucks are placing a heavy burden on the St. Louis County farmers. It is getting so dangerous out in St. Louis County that we will have to do something in the way of building side-walks so our children can go to school safely. I think Col. Gardner's plan will solve the problem, and I hope the people will put it into operation. The people have voted down bond issues and special taxes, so something else must be tried.

Murder and Suicide.

Race suicide is bad, but so is dropping bombs on babies, and so is the wholesale murder of a war of "civilized" nations. PATRICK WESSE.

Publicity Found a Lost Sister.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have the pleasure to acknowledge that the town call which I published in your paper about a month ago has already brought results. I have found my lost twin sister. From whom I had not heard in years.

As this is the only living relative I have, I am duly thankful for your assistance in locating her for me. Yours in the "glad reunion".

Movies' Cost and Admission Charges.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The writer was very much interested and gratified by your editorial, "Holding the Mirror Up to the Mirror," under date of Sept. 14, and the phrase, "killing the goose that lays the golden egg," was very aptly put in your analysis of the situation regarding the high price of admission to view "high-class" motion pictures.

Motion picture productions have been advertised in many instances as having cost from $10,000 to $100,000 to prepare for the dear kind public, and those who are familiar with the inner workings know that there never was, and never will be, a motion picture produced that cost one-half million of dollars to complete. There is one, however, that might have cost in the neighborhood of $150,000, but a great deal of money was wasted, even in this picture. In 1912 the average negative cost of motion picture productions was $1 per foot, and in some cases $2 per negative foot, which included salaries of actors.

The salaries of actors have soared to the skies, and many of these gentry who were "hams" prior to the decadence of the drama of the spoken word, are now in the movies receiving fabulous pay, some as high as $500 weekly. Producers (?) also receive large salaries, and this has also contributed to the negative cost, but even allowing for the negative cost of production to jump from $1 per foot to $5 per foot, the greatest kind of a production should not cost over $25,000 or $30,000 per 1000 feet.

The same money that devoured the legitimate drama will eventually devour the motion picture, and it will be too late for the film magnate to realize that the dime is the potent factor and not the dollar.

CINEM.

Missed the Street Signs.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I supposed off at East St. Louis last week and was surprised to find that they had no street signs. For a progressive little city like East St. Louis, they are away behind the times. Be up to date; put up signs so that a stranger won't get lost.

S. M. DAVIS

Encourage Home Trade.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

It being a fact that we earn our living in St. Louis, should we not spend our money with St. Louis dealers and keep our money in St. Louis, instead of spending our money with out-of-town dealers and consequently send our money out of St. Louis and thereby making business in St. Louis dead? Jobs scarce, wages low, and have St. Louis keep from fourth to sixth or even sixth place. For

CARRYING MISSOURI AT DINNER.

From 1200 to 1400 Republicans at a banquet in St. Louis, which Senator J. W. Weeks called the most remarkable political gathering he had ever attended, have already won the next election in Missouri, given the State's electoral to the presidential nominee of their party and induced Republicans into all the State offices at Jefferson City.

This result is not to be accomplished, either prematurely or at any time, on the two issues defined by Mr. Weeks and James E. Watson of Indiana—putting back the graft in the tariff which the Democrats took out and making the heavily burdened taxpayers of the United States to pay subsidies to selfish ocean-shipping corporations.

They fail to reckon with President Wilson's strength in Missouri. The approval in which he is held is not confined to any particular section of the State or any distinctive class of citizens. It is as manifest in the country as in the cities; it is unqualified among the leaders of public thought as among the voters of the plain people.

Until they can match those great party assets of the Democrats—Mr. Wilson's capacity and the enormous popularity of his progressive policies—confidence on the part of Republicans respecting the outcome of the next campaign in Missouri has only the value of a theatrical press agent's irresponsible forecasts.

This confidence, so far as it is not assumed, has its origin almost entirely in disappointing results at Jefferson City.

The State administration headed by Gov. Major is a heavy party liability. No more cold-blooded, repulsively self-seeking band of exploiters ever seized on the political destinies of a State. If any gang ever blundered more egregiously, it was because in more stirring times the opportunities for blundering were greater. It is lacking even in the personal qualities and graces that sometimes make compensation for incompetency in leadership.

How far will Wilson popularity offset the unpopularity of State leaders?

This is the point of doubt that makes the Missouri situation so highly interesting. That the Wilson strength may carry the State ticket though, is a possibility, provided the party repudiates in toto the Jefferson City gang and disavows its grave sins of commission and omission that have aroused deep public feeling.

But we may remember that Missouri has become a State of marked and highly intelligent discrimination in political action. It voted for Mr. Roosevelt, but elected Mr. Folk Governor. It gave Mr. Taft and Mr. Hadley majorities, but chose a full complement of Democratic State officers.

The most probable outcome of the next campaign is one that will give the State's electoral vote to Mr. Wilson by a majority so big as to insure him a Senator and the present number of Democratic Congressmen to uphold his policies and at the same time replace with Republicans the present unsatisfactory Democrats in the more important State offices.

KIRKWOOD'S BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY.

Kirkwood is celebrating its fiftieth birthday today. None of the large cities has a suburb where life is better worth living. It is a town of physical beauty and progressive spirit. Nature did much for its site and intelligence and good taste have worked together in adding to its attractions. The beginnings of a community that combines so many perfections are worthily commemorated.

The next anniversary for formal observance in Kirkwood should be the date on which it is annexed to St. Louis, of which it really forms an integral part.

WE HAVE A FATHERLAND.

There was a pathetic parade Wednesday in Washington of the remnant of the Grand Army. Perhaps it will be the last of the street demonstrations with which the country has been familiar for more than a generation, for the men are old and most of them can march no more, but for many a year to come there will be reunions of these venerable Americans, and, as was the case with the Revolutionary ancestors of some of them, the survivors will be honored to the end.

If, as a result of existing complications at home and abroad, any of our people are inclined to question the nationality of the United States or to be unduly disturbed by vexatious foreign influences, let them consider what this Grand Army was and what it did.

Made up of soldiers of every race, nation and creed, but all Americans in faith and spirit, it defended and preserved the Union. It settled forever the quibbles, the jealousies, the doubts, the conspiracies, the treasons of those who hoped to prevail against a divided people.

RUEF'S TOOL DEFEATED.

The impudence of the political crook who has once tasted success is immeasurable—almost as incomprehensible as the credulity of a small fraction of the voters. Having fooled a part of the people all the time and all the people a part of the time, Eugene E. Schmitz, hoodler Mayor of San Francisco and tool of Convict Ruef, thought he could do it again.

Ruef is out of jail on parole, but San Francisco will not close its world's fair year with an unpunished crook as its Mayor-elect. James Rolph is renominated for another term by so large a majority as to insure his election.

Who can explain, however, why Schmitz stood second in the poll, while a man without his scandalous record stood third?

EDUCATIONAL VALUE OF THE FAIR.

Someone signing himself "A Merchant" writes, asking: "Who is going to get the graft for giving school children a holiday to attend the St. Louis Fair?" The letter goes on to condemn the merchants who may be good enough to give their employees a holiday to see the fair; calls it a "horse-racing proposition," and concludes: "We surely have a country town."

Oh, lie, Mr. Merchant! The St. Louis Agricultural Fair is a school. It is part of a liberal education. The Post-Dispatch has called attention to many of its wholesome, enjoyable and unique features that are calculated to make city and country understand each other better, and to promote the prosperity of both.

Besides these, there is the splendid woman's activities display to be given at the fair, in which the Mothers' Circles, Parents-Teachers' Associations, women's clubs, Woman's Council, suffrage societies and other organizations will take part.

The home, the school, the factory and the farm will show their best, side by side, at this fair and all will be benefited.

ANOTHER PENITENTIARY JUGGLE.

What is the pull that perpetuates the contract labor system in the State Penitentiary in defiance of the act of the Legislature and the will of the people?

What is the particular pull by which Contractor Oberman enjoys a profitable control of the State overall factory in the prison?

The law is evaded and the will of the people defeated by an agreement under which Oberman supplies the raw materials, hires the convict labor and sells the finished product in the State's shop.

Efforts to learn the exact nature and terms of the agreement, which turns over a State prison shop to a private contractor have been blocked at every point by the Prison Board. Inspection of the records has been refused.

This is another example of juggling with law, betrayal of public interests and defiance of popular will which have disgraced the State administration and disgusted the people. It is another blot on the bad record of our penitentiary management, which, in the words of the Senate investigating committee, makes Missouri "one of the few states remaining in the background of progress."

Art is long, but the time to the Museum can be shortened.

THE MOVIE FINGER WRITES.

Every industry nowadays evolves its own literature. We observe a movie enterprise announcing that "there's thumps and throbbs" in a new offering: "five reels of punch, pep and plot, pluck, perils and pitfalls. The plodding pawns of penny cross and recross, the primrose paths of plenty, plagued by pitiless perils, down, down, doggedly down to the defeating dusk of disaster's doom. Then Fate, the fickle fiddler's fancy, shifts and from out the tortured tangle love leaps and laughs and links the luckiest lives with loops of gold."

The movie, reflecting the maelstrom of modern life, long ago swallowed the best actors and dramatists. Now it is evidently widening to devour the more refined literary talent. Did Robert Chambers write that "ad" or was it "Hon" James? And are we to witness all literature become reely?

Was it not someone's duty to tell Mr. Burton of the change in water rates? Mr. Burton should tell the Complaint Board of the way he was overlooked.

HOPING HE HAS BEEN MISQUOTED.

Ambassador von Bernstorff is quoted as saying, in the course of an official communication to our Government, that the "Armenian policy" pursued by the Turks is a necessary wartime measure. To people familiar with the barbarities practiced by the Turks on the Armenians the Ambassador's attitude, if he is interpreted correctly, will be incomprehensible.

Possibly Count von Bernstorff himself does not know that the "Armenian policy" consists of barbarities the nature of which is hardly printable in official documents. The early American savage scarcely conceived such tortures. Nothing to compare with them has disgraced any other habitat of humankind.

The historical record shows that torture has always been a specialty, a special development of the Euphrates Valley. The Assyrian stones show frightful tortures which Kings themselves inflicted upon subjects. Maiming, flaying, impaling, blinding and smothering in hot ashes became commonplace in Persia. These forms passed to the Turks, who added to them. The methods of killing and torture originated by the Turks show a knowledge and inventive skill far beyond what the same people have shown in any other direction, and surpassing that of every other people combined. Religious contempt, hereditary animosity, revenge, political antagonism and war have been their incentives. Not longer ago than eight years the "Armenian massacres" practiced by the Turks with a religious motive turned men aghast. Now the motive is political, the suppression of revolt, rebellion and "treasonable activity"—and we may fairly assume that the tortures, beggar imagination and fairly exhaust the special genius of the past masters. Armenia is no less than a chamber of horrors.

We hope that the Ambassador of the Turkish ally has been misquoted.

IS DUMBA THE CULPRIT?

The Wiener Freie Presse publishes the text of the imperial Austro-Hungarian edict regarding the assistance of Austro-Hungarians in the manufacture, in the United States, of ammunition for the allies.

According to trustworthy reports there are in the United States of America Austro-Hungarians, workingmen, engineers and technical men, engaged in the manufacture of arms and munitions for our enemies. We herewith call attention to statute No. 327 of the Austro-Hungarian penal code which subjects such individuals who recklessly forget their duty, to ten or twenty years of the severest imprisonment (schwersten Kerker), or even ignominious death at the end of a rope. The circumstance that the offense is committed in a foreign land does not alter the case.

The paper adds that a similar decree has been published broadcast by Germany, and has been distributed in America.

Referring to the possibility that many of the Austro-Hungarians, against whom this edict has been launched, might have become American citizens, and would therefore no more stand under Austrian jurisdiction, the paper says, that no subject of the dual monarchy has a right to forswear allegiance to his native country, and that Austria does not recognize the change of citizen-

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the POST-DISPATCH by Clark McAdams

THE ANCIENT RIVERMAN.

I. It is an ancient riverman
Who stoppeth one of three.
"Vow, by my halidom," he saith,
"We all of us agree.
But why is nothing done about
Our getting to the sea?"

"I think I go three times a week
In faith and hope arrayed,
To hear some politician speak
About our river trade."

III. "The Europeans are at war,
The flag of trade is furled;
We only have to try to get
The markets of the world."

"The way awaits at Panama,
The sea is ours to sail;
We only need the pep to hold
The planet by the tail."

Since our exclamation over its rural news service the Hallettsville (Tex.) New Era has reinforced its correspondence corps by adding the following: Tater Digger, Route No. 4; Two Loving Kids, Route No. 8; Tipperary Daisy, Witting; Daddy's Girl, Pilot Grove; and Hackberry Guy, Hackberry. They have no school of journalism in Texas, but when they do it will be crowded.

If the allies are as slow about repaying that war loan as they have been about getting started in Flanders, we may well wonder if we were wise in ever letting them have it.

We have encountered a new theory of what caused the war in Europe—it grew out of popular resentment of Alfred Noyes' peace poem! True, we found it in a quarter where Mr. Noyes is not greatly respected, but for the sake of the peace, we will accept it.

II. "They all declare it's coming back,
At which the diners cheer,
And aid to that immortal cause
Is pledged in lager beer."

"And yet nobody does a thing,
Or ever goes ahead;
They drink, they speechify and sing,
And then the thing is dead;
They only make the welkin ring,
And then they go to bed."

IV. "My language may be picturesque—
We river men are rough;
But we have heard the orators
And promises enough:
The thing we want is something done—
The thing we get is guff."

It is an ancient riverman
Whose voice becomes a scream:
"I'm damned if I will go to hear Another river speech!"

With that he turned upon his heel,
And ah! the air was blue;
But what he said before he left
Was very, very true.

A New Yorker who was raised in Wiltshire County, England, writes the Tribune this interesting reminiscence of Stonehenge, the Druidical ruin in that county which has just been sold: "There used to be an old saying around Stonehenge that it was impossible to count the stones alike twice. My father visited the ruins with a friend while we lived in the County, and I remember hearing him tell his experience. They tested the truth of the old legend—had counted the stones in the usual haphazard way several times, but never twice alike. Then he and his friend, with a walking stick, drew lines, dividing the ruins into sections; by this systematic method they were enabled to get the same result every time—I forget the number of stones."

Mr. Edison has invented a lamp which will enable firemen to see through smoke. Now if he will devise a bag powder for firemen, the peril of the mill will be greatly lessened.

HEALTHY HINTS.

JENNIE.—For the blood: Exercise all muscles, fresh air, fruits, grape juice, vegetables, plenty of good water. Never overeat; diet should be simple.

M. A. R.—Two commonest methods: 1. Firm bandaging; 2. Camphor liniment, applied twice a day. Camphor may be taken internally, but only by advice of physician.

GRACE.—No sure symptom of tapeworm except passage of articulations. A California woman writes: Buy 25 cents' worth of pumpkin seeds, fast 24 hours, soak seed in water 12 hours, then drink this the first thing in the morning after fasting, and eat the seeds during the day when you are hungry. Eat them all, then at bedtime take two ounces castor oil. This is sure cure for tapeworm. Now if you don't think you have the head, repeat the treatment in a week or two.

CONSTANT.—Dr. Ottofy is reported to have a costly cancer serum. Better consult a capable physician for cancer treatment. The Medical Journal says surgery is still "the sheet anchor." And "the earlier and more radical the procedure the better." This is to say that as soon as a cancer is definitely diagnosed it must be cut out, if it is possible. Only when not possible should other treatment be resorted to, and in these cases "the X-ray" should be given the preference over radium.

POOR GIRL.—Ptyriasis is curable if taken in time. See a good dentist. Clean teeth with salt several times a day hardens the gums. Gums should be massaged with the forefinger. The discovery by Bass and Johns of New Orleans that ptyriasis is caused by an ameba suggested the employment of ipecac, for this had been proved to cure the amebic dysentery so common in tropical countries. Dr. Bass administered from half a grain to a grain of emetin hypodermically in any part of the body one injection a day, at intervals and for length of time, depending on individual cases. Dr. Barrett and Smith inject the emetin directly into the sore gums. From three to six doses have been necessary and in some cases a second course of treatment has to be taken.

A. J. Alton.—We don't know who would give $1000 for one of the first English pennies. It is an interesting coin, but coin store here is selling it at 5 cents.

D.—Just drop a line to the Pardon Board, Jefferson City, Missouri, stating that you are notified in the event a pardon or parole is to be granted. The board will probably grant it, and near from you before taking action.

SNORING.—If cause of snoring is in nose or throat, these may be treated. Sleeping on the back may cause it. Sleep on the side, in a cold room. To prevent, some hold a piece of tape over the mouth, some put adhesive plaster over the mouth.

SUBSCRIBER.—Faints are apt to peel from galvanized iron on account of the smooth spangled surface. This condition is obtained by first cleaning the metal before painting with a solution of copper salts. Such a solution may be prepared by dissolving 4 oz. of copper acetate, copper chloride or copper sulphate in one gallon of water. By brushing on this solution the galvanized iron is roughened, a thin deposit of copper being plated out over the surface. After an hour or so, the surface may be lightly brushed and then painted with a durable oil paint. Firmly adhering films are thus produced.

AUBURN.—Three black crows: Have three men as man, but they are cotton covered with cloth as there are players. A leader being chosen, the others form a circle about him and he starts the game by crying "Three black crows are in the corn. Peck! Peck! Peck! As he utters the last three words she touches three of those in the circle, and they are out and back from 80 to 80 to be about four feet away. They are the crows. Each one faces so as to be able to run around the circle and back to her place, always keeping four feet away from the others. When the crows are in position the leader cries, "The farmer shouts them away. Crack! Crack! Crack!" At the last "crack" the crows begin their race, and the members of the circle, who are all farmers and each of whom is armed with three balls, throw them at the runners as they pass in an effort to strike them. Should they be hit no penalty follows, for the excitement of the game has chiefly in the attempt to strike the crows. When the runners have reached their places the first one pecked becomes leader the balls are collected and again distributed.

C. H. R.—In the game called "Portrait" one person leaves the room, the others choose a picture of someone they all know. The person on entering the room is asked questions to be answered by "yes" or "no." For instance, "Is it a man?" "No." "A woman?" "Yes." "Is she married?" "No." "Has she a sister?" "Yes." "Has she a brother?" "No." Sometimes the company chooses the one who ever drew the "Portrait" and the guessing is more difficult. The "Falling Soldier" is another diversion. The whole company stands in a row like soldiers. The order to retreat is given, and they all fall forward, then the last one kneels down on one knee only with arms spread, and the others push their next neighbor and the whole file will collapse like a house of cards. The "Monks" game is a man selected to leave the room. When he returns he is asked to name the whole company, pushed by the serious attitude, he naturally asks, "What is the matter? They are all dead?" The man who is asked to name the company is asked to name the company, pushed by the serious attitude, he naturally asks, "What is the matter? They are all dead?" The man who is asked to name the company is asked to name the company, pushed by the serious attitude, he naturally asks, "What is the matter? They are all dead?"

Quarantine

Unsuspectingly walking into an epidemic-scourged camp, a young man meets a young girl, becomes isolated with her, and, as the days go by, finds love for her grow in his heart.

By George Munson.

JIMMY LEIGH got out of the train at the little station and shouldered his suitcase. Declining the approaches of the solitary porter, he stepped out briskly along the five-mile trail that led to the Trudgon camp beside Lake Yellowhammer. It was a fad of his to travel lightly, and in the reasonably heavy suitcase he had an ax, a fishing rod and accessories, five or six days' provisions, and the minimum of clothing that he would need for the very brief vacation that he had allowed himself.

He was hardly out of sight of the station when he perceived an excited-looking individual yelling and gesticulating at him from the high bank, which here turned from its parallel course along the trail and wound away beside the line.

Jimmy, who had a constitutional objection to being shouted at, stepped off at a pace that defied pursuit. He heard the shouts grow more and more distant; then he was alone in the heart of the wilderness. Presently the lake came into sight. Jimmy sat down his bag and rested.

The air was very still. A thrush was singing in the underbrush. In a little pool he saw a trout leap. His heart leaped, too. He rose, shouldered his bag again, and stepped briskly forward.

The cottage was the second of the six. He had occupied it for two or three years. Trudgon had fixed it up for him. He anticipated pleasant company among the other cottagers. But when at last he reached the point he was amazed to find the whole place desolate and bare, except the single second cottage, standing forlornly among heaps of debris. A fire had evidently destroyed the rest. How No. 2 had escaped was beyond his powers of computation.

He Learns of the Epidemic.

He whistled a moment, then stepped up to the door. Another surprise awaited him. Upon the threshold, wide-eyed in wonder and appeal, stood the most beautiful girl, in Jimmy's opinion, that he had ever seen. Jimmy stared at her.

"Thank heaven!" exclaimed the girl. "I beg your pardon?" asked Jimmy.

"Are you going to let me go home?" the girl demanded.

"I hope you are not being kept here against your will," said Jimmy.

The girl stared at him again. "Don't you understand?" she cried.

"I thought I had rented this camp," said Jimmy.

The girl burst into hysterical laughter. "What does it matter?" she demanded.

"Don't you know that we are quarantined here? Didn't they try to stop you coming?"

"I believe some idiot did yell at me, now I come to think of it," Jimmy replied.

The girl laid her hand on his arm. "Listen to me!" she said. "I came here two weeks ago, and my friend was to come the following day. They turned her back. I was just too late. There had been a smallpox epidemic here. They burned down the other camps. They left one for me, and I moved into this because it was the most comfortable. They bring food every day to a place at the end of the lake and leave it there. I don't know when I can go. I thought you had come to take me away."

"I wish I had," said Jimmy. He saw the girl start and look at him intently. It had only just occurred to her that this man might be a gentleman.

"What are you going to do?" she asked.

"Why, I guess we had better take the next train," Jimmy answered.

"Oh, it isn't so simple," said the girl. "Pack and we'll try," said Jimmy.

He decided to remain.

He shouldered his bag and his own, and they tried. At the place where the trail and the road united stood the excited individual, waiting for them. Between them and himself were the two barrels of a shotgun. "Keep back!" he yelled.

Unable to move him, Jimmy took the two bags again, and they trudged back to the cabin.

"I guess I'll stay," said Jimmy.

"But you can't stay here!" she breathed.

"I guess I can make myself comfortable," said Jimmy, producing his ax.

As the girl watched him he proceeded to chop down the spreading branches of the pines. Within an hour he had constructed, out of stakes and branches, a comfortable little cabin, which, if not wind proof was at any rate rain proof. When he had finished the girl's eyes met his in a friendly smile.

"This is very irregular," she said.

"But it will be fine," answered Jimmy.

It was indeed the beginning of an ideal vacation. The girl's name was Mary Bancroft; she was a teacher in the city, and, oddly enough, Jimmy had been expecting to meet her through some mutual friends for quite a period of time. They fished together, they rowed upon the lake, and laughed the quarantine to scorn. And before the second day was over Jimmy was sure that he was in love with her.

On the third day he was sure of it. He told her so that night.

"I don't know how it is," he said, "but I feel as if I had always loved you."

The honeymoon.

MARY BANCROFT looked at him in her quick way. "I think you are a very chivalrous young man," she said.

"What do you mean?" cried Jimmy blushing.

"You think you think it is your duty to love me because—well, because of this."

Jimmy's only answer was to clasp her in his arms. And with that he sus-

Impatience, one of the most unfortunate traits, is a dangerous one, too.

IMPATIENCE is a dangerous quality. It constantly places your self-respect and your relation to your dearest friends in peril. Moreover, it makes unhappy circumstances more unhappy still. You can't rebel against your surroundings with a complaining heart without rendering yourself weak to oppose or change them. Look your life over calmly and impartially, and you will find when you have been at odds with your lot you have made that lot so much the worse and more difficult to get away from, whereas if you had accepted the bitter experience and made the best of it you would have reaped the benefits otherwise impossible.

It is equally true that where you have been impetuous of speech you have had cause for regret, while a curbed tongue has been cause for rejoicing. When you have been silent you have done better than when you have spoken.

A bitter word suppressed strengthens the character, while a reckless utterance is like a bomb, which is sure to injure if it does not kill the friend.

He shook hands with Jimmy, and with Mary, who emerged from her camp as radiant as the dew, and winked. "Guess there's a Justice or the Peace over to Kew," he vouchsafed, as he trudged homeward.

The outcasts looked at each other. Jimmy sighed. Mary and he stood side by side watching the sunbeams on the lake. Their paradise seemed an Eden, the thought of leaving it unbearable.

"How would two weeks more of this suit you, dear?" asked Jimmy, as his arm stole around her waist.

"Next summer?" asked the girl innocently.

"No," answered Jimmy. "Right now. At least, as soon as we can get back from Kew."

"I think it will be our real quarantine," said Mary softly.

Mr. Fox Keeps House

By Mrs. F. A. Walker.

PART II.

MR. FOX cleared the table and began to wash the dishes, but he had not washed many when a howl came from the yard, frightening Mr. Fox so that he dropped the dish he was wiping.

"They won't let me play with them!" Jack cried, running in the house. "They are going to play steal the chickens, and they won't let me play unless I will be the chicken, and I want to be a big fox and steal one myself. Oh! oh! oh!"

"You be a good boy and I will let you help me whitewash the fence," said Mr. Fox. "Come along now and don't you cry. We will have a better time than they will."

Jack Fox dried his eyes. Mr. Fox had just begun to whitewash one end of the fence when Billy and Tommie and Reddy came running into the yard. "We want our dinner. Mother always has it on the table by this time. We are hungry."

"Yes, I am hungry, too," said Jack, who had had all the fun he wanted with the whitewash.

"All right," said Mr. Fox. "I'll go in and get you something to eat. What do you have for dinner? You mother did not tell me what to get."

"Oh, we have molasses and cake and pie and sugar and cookies and preserves and coffee, too," said Tommie, trying to think of all the things he liked best.

"All right, I'll have it on the table in a jiffy," said Mr. Fox. "Now see if you can behave while I am getting it."

Sandman story of how he comes to the conclusion that house-keeping isn't such an easy matter, after all.

MR. FOX had no sooner disappeared than Tommie took his brush and dipped it into the pail of whitewash. Throwing the brush over his shoulder, he brought it down on the fence with such force that he covered Billy, who stood near.

Billy wiped the whitewash from his eyes and rushed at Tommie, who lost his balance and fell backward into the pail, tipping it over as he fell and stepping on Reddy's toes. Reddy screamed, and thinking Tommie meant to step on his toes, he fell to punching him and over rolled Tommie, Reddy, Billy and the pail of whitewash until the little foxes looked as if they had white coats instead of dark ones.

Mr. Fox came to the door to call them to dinner, but he stood with wide open mouth and did not utter a sound when he saw his three sons.

"I want my dinner!" cried Jack, at last, and Mrs. Fox, not wishing to hear any more crying, let them all come in and eat their dinner.

Just as they were finishing their mother returned from town. She gave one look at her sons and dropped all her bundles on the floor.

"I thought you were going to whitewash the fence, not the children," she said to Mr. Fox, in a very angry voice.

MR. FOX did not reply to his wife. He sat with hanging head and his hands in the pockets of his trousers.

"I thought you were going to do all the work while I was gone?" she continued. "The kitchen looks as if it had never seen a broom and the beds not made either. Will you tell me, Mr. Fox, what you have been doing while I have been away?"

"I guess you would not have done any more than I have if you had seen through what I have with these children this morning," said Mr. Fox, finding his voice at last.

"Don't I have them every day, and don't I know just how they bother, but for all that I manage to do the work and get the meals, and you never saw them when they looked as they do this minute. Who would ever think you were dark colored," she said, looking at her sons.

Mr. Fox went out of the house and worked all the afternoon and he thought a great deal while he worked.

Mrs. Fox gave the children a bath and put them all in bed, but while she worked there was a look of satisfaction on her face, and every once in a while she smiled, in fact, she almost laughed when she looked at Mr. Fox working quietly on the fence.

"I guess I shan't hear any more about the easy time I have," she said to herself, "and I think tomorrow morning we will have a much fatter hen for breakfast than we had this morning."

Votes for Dutch Women.

"THE QUEEN'S NAVER" in Holland is to be enlarged, if the Dutch Parliament should agree with the recommendation of Wilhelmina. Moreover, her majesty has announced that a bill will be introduced to eliminate present hindrances to woman suffrage; which is designed to mean, no doubt, that the women of that country shall ultimately have the right to vote on all questions subject to the franchise.

This is more significant as a step in the advancement of general suffrage in Europe than the suggested increase in the Dutch navy is important as a war measure.

The largest navy Holland could build for fighting purposes would amount to little compared with the existing navies of the great Powers on that hemisphere, or with what other maritime nations there could construct. The knowledge that the Queen has taken a step to remove obstacles from the pathway of woman suffrage in her country suggests that she may go still farther after awhile and openly advocate votes for her countrywomen.

What she has done will greatly enhance women the world over who are enlisted in this cause.

This is an Editorial that appeared in a recent issue of The Ladies Home Journal.

Should a Woman Make a Will?

SHE SHOULD—DECIDEDLY SO! It is just as important for a woman as for a man. Suppose she passes away and does not leave a will; what may happen?

First: The Court has to appoint someone to take charge of her property, and this may be anybody. This person has the right to look into all her most private possessions: letters, papers, etc.; say what shall be done with her most precious things: her watch, ring, etc. Would she like that?

Second: Such a person—an administrator, he is called—has to file a bond. This bond costs money and that money has to come out of what a woman leaves: a lawyer must be retained, the estate must be advertised, appraisers appointed, an inventory made—all of which costs money and comes out of what she leaves. And the necessary red tape that the law requires may take a year or two, and the estate is tied up for all that time.

Third: If she is a widow and passes away without a will, leaving children, she thereby failed to indicate a guardian for the children, and the court must appoint one. She could have wisely selected a guardian who would act as a labor of love, but will the court do so? She leaves her children at the mercy of anyone that the court chooses to appoint. If the children are under age the complications become greater. Expenses come in, and they must all come out of what she leaves.

These are only some of the complications that arise when a woman leaves no will. They are enough, however, to show her the importance of making a will. Nor should she try to make a will herself and save a lawyer's fee. Nothing is more shortsighted. Not only should every woman make a will, but she should let a lawyer make her will for her. Hundreds of family quarrels could have been avoided had women been more careful about leaving wills clearly stating their desires after they had passed away.

Hundreds of family quarrels could have been avoided had women been more careful about leaving wills clearly stating their desires after they had passed away.

These are only some of the complications that arise when a woman leaves no will. They are enough, however, to show her the importance of making a will. Nor should she try to make a will herself and save a lawyer's fee. Nothing is more shortsighted. Not only should every woman make a will, but she should let a lawyer make her will for her. Solid Mahogany or Georgian Oak

THESE Tea Wagons come from one of the very finest Grand Rapids makers and we secured a most radical concession by buying a quantity. Thus we are able to offer you an actual $25 value for $14.50.

Consider—These are genuine all solid mahogany in the fashionable 18th Century finish and genuine all solid quarter-sawn oak in the rich Jacobean finish.

Note the flexible third wheel which enables one to push the vehicle safely, eliminating the danger of tipping and spilling dishes. See the fine 15-inch rubber-tired cabinet wheels—so different from the baby buggy wheels used on many Tea Wagons. See how gracefully turned is the handle and how daintily made are the handles of the removable glass tray.

This is one of the best specials we have yet offered and the fifty which we have on hand should be completely exhausted before Saturday.

To Quickly Remove Ugly Hairs From Face

(Beauty Notes)
Beauty-destroying hairs are soon banished from the skin with the aid of a delicate paste made by mixing some water with a little plain powdered talc. This is spread upon the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed to remove the remaining depilatories. This simple treatment banishes every trace of hair and leaves the skin without a blemish. Caution should be used to be certain that it is delicate you buy—ADV.

VEHICLE RULES FOR V. P. BALL TUESDAY NIGHT

Police, Street Department and Traffic Committee Formulate Regulations.

Vehicle regulations for the Velled Prophet ball at the Coliseum, Tuesday night, have been prepared by the Traffic Committee, Police Board and Street Department. Leavingwell avenue, from Chestnut to Washington, will be a north-bound thoroughfare only from 7 p. m. to 2 a. m.; Washington avenue, from Leavingwell to Twentieth, east only, from 7 p. m. to 2 a. m.; Locust street, from Leonard to Jefferson, east only from 7 to 9:30 p. m. The following streets will be closed to all traffic, Washington avenue, from Garrison to Leavingwell, 7 p. m. to 2 a. m.; Beaumont street, from Locust to Washington, 7 p. m. to 2 a. m.; Locust street, from Jefferson to Leavingwell, from 9:30 to 10:30 p. m. Vehicles will not be allowed to stand on Washington avenue, from Twentieth to Garrison; Jefferson avenue, from including Washington to Olive; Olive street, from Twenty-third to Beaumont; Locust street, from Leavingwell to Jefferson.

Single Line of Vehicles. Only a single line of vehicles will be permitted on Leavingwell and Washington avenues to the Coliseum. Drivers of vehicles that are not en route to the Coliseum are expected to use Chestnut street and Lawton avenue as a principal east and west thoroughfare.

Guests of the ball will be expected to have their tickets ready to show to policemen along the specified routes to the Coliseum. At Leavingwell and Washington vehicle checks will be given. Parking places and directions will be shown on these checks.

Unengaged taxicabs may stand on Twenty-second and Twenty-third streets from Washington to Franklin.

No Policemen Inside. The "dandies" of the police traffic squad were disgruntled today when they learned that next Tuesday night, for the first time in the history of the Velled Prophet, they are to be relegated to the outside of the ballroom. They have been accustomed to mingle with the dancers and "show off" to the spectators, but this year the Police Board has decided that the traffic police must be where they belong, outside directing traffic.

Every patrolman will be on duty Tuesday night and every Captain, with the exception of Michael O'Malley of the Angelica Street District, who has been excused on account of illness, will have a hand in preserving order at the Velled Prophet parade and ball. There will be 900 men stationed along the parade route and the remainder of the force will cover the beats and be in reserve for emergency calls.

Capt. Schwartz of the Mounted Police will head the parade with 24 policemen and three Sergeants. There will be two outriders and a rear guard, while a mounted man will ride behind each float. The police regulations prohibiting all forms of rowdiness will be enforced. This applies particularly to those who inflict their humor with slap-sticks, ticklers and confetti.

400 HOGS DIE OF CHOLERA

An epidemic of cholera has started among hogs in the vicinity of East Alton, Wanda and Poak, where 400 have died within the past few weeks and many more are ill. Louis Brava, one of the heaviest individual losers, says 40 of his hogs have died from cholera.

Dr. C. F. Wullner, State Veterinarian, has been called to the territory to take measures to stamp out the disease.

Money Grows By Being Invested.

Why Not Buy Real Estate? The sooner a man begins to develop an investing habit the sooner he starts on the road to independence. The first investment ought to be in a home. The person who can afford to pay rent for a house can afford to buy a home. Fact is that after the first small payment—which a part of a savings account will cover—the "carrying cost" of a home is less than the cost of rent for a similar house. And, of course, a large part of this "carrying cost" is applied to paying for the property. If you think of it in this way you will be interested in the Post-Dispatch Want pages, where opportunities are presented to buy homes on very easy terms.

ALTHOUGH the Packers, under George Stovall, the "Frebrand" of the Federal League, stopped the dash of the Terriers for the Federal League pennant by winning the opening game of the series, yesterday afternoon, 1-0, Manager Jones' crew cannot be counted out. There's still a chance for the local Feds to cop the gonfalon in the Gilmore circuit.

That defeat yesterday, one of the toughest suffered by Terriers' men this season, showed the Terriers down to third place and broke the Terriers' winning streak of nine straight.

While the local Feds are in third place this morning, they are only five points behind the Pittsburghs, who still lead the field, while the margin between the Whales and Terriers is only two points.

The defeat of Oakes' men in the first of the "crocodal" six-game series with the Whales, helped some. Had the Terriers just about the same winner instead of the Whales, Oakes' men would have topped the field by a game and a half this morning.

Although Jones' men are still in the pennant race they will have to hit their stride again this afternoon behind Edie Plank, the 40-year-old southpaw. If Plank is beaten today then the Terriers can just about be counted out of the race for first place.

A 1-0 loss for Jones' outfit will do no good, no matter what happens in the remaining games between the Pittsburghs and the Terriers. The Terriers to win three straight, or wind up the season in second place.

In order to take all their remaining battles, though, the Terriers will have to put forth their best efforts. The Terriers is fighting for a place in the first division and the best packer team will be the one to win.

He will use Adams or Johnson on the hill today, sent Nick Callop, another of his star southpaws, on Saturday, and come back with Gene Packard on Sunday.

Their all tough naps to crack and Jones will have to get some great pitching, as well as more hitting, than was evidenced yesterday.

Managers Tinker and Oakes will be in the second battle in Pittsburgh today. Tinker yesterday used McConnell and Brown, while Oakes' men used Frank Allen, who was chased off the hill. It is probable that Mike Prendergast, who won yesterday, will be on the hill today, will be Tinker's selection, with Hodge working for Oakes.

Pitcher Packard's Homer Crowns a Splendid Twirling Feat by K. C. Star

SOME 6000 Federal League followers yesterday afternoon saw Jones' men go down to defeat in one of the greatest pitching duels seen here this year. Two Cincinnati pitchers, Mike Prendergast and Gene Packard, a southpaw, worked for Stovall, while Jones' men, led by the veteran right-hander, who had been returned the victor in his last three games.

The game yesterday was a plain case of one man beating 13, as Manager Jones injected several extra players into the line-up in an effort to save the game.

Stovall's star left-hander also pitched a great game. He allowed the local four hits, no two of them coming in the first inning, while he mowed only one batter—Tobin, in the second.

Before Packard smashed out his circuit breaker, the game was in its initial stages. Then in the last three frames, one of Stovall's pitchers, Mike Prendergast, as a second baseman, made a two throw to the plate, nipping the southpaw in the Gilmore circuit, was the "one man" yesterday. He scored the game's first run, and he was one of his mates assisted him around the paths. In the sixth inning, after Rawlings, the first batter, had been retired, Packard walloped one of Davenport's shots over the right field wall for four runs. That was the only count of the game, but it proved enough.

Figures Show Hoblitzel Better for Single Series Than Luderus; Neither Likely to Play Any Important Part

Hugh Fullerton, After Presenting the Facts About Rival World's Series First Basemen, Summarizes Them for Post-Dispatch Readers—See if You Agree With His Deductions.

II.—THE FIRST BASEMAN.
A Direct Comparison of How Luderus of Philadelphia and Hoblitzel of the Boston Red Sox Will Perform in Baseball's Classic.

By Hugh Fullerton.

Value in Offense. Value in Defense. Value in Season. Value in Series.

Hoblitzel . . . 832 671 704 737
Luderus . . . 861 648 717 710

HERE are few ball players in the country about whose ability there is as much question as there is about Dick Hoblitzel. From a leading first baseman of the National League, he retrograded until he was not considered good enough for the tail-end Cincinnati club, and every club in the National League, five of which needed first basemen, waived claim and he went to Boston. There he struck his old stride, and seemed as good a ball player as ever, although he has played by streaks—the greatest in the league for a time, and far off his work at another. That he has lost some of his sensational speed around first is undoubted and his base running is not what he promised.

Hoblitzel is a right-handed first-sacker. He handles the ball like a flash along the base. He is a big, heavy, flat-footed ballplayer, slow and a little awkward in his movements and only fair first baseman.

His chief defensive strength lies in the fact that he is solid and steady and that he makes an excellent mark for the other infielders to follow.

He is a plodding, earnest worker, cool under all circumstances and just about as good a player, mechanically, in a world's series as he would be in an exhibition game.

Luderus has been a normal 285 hitter ever since he broke into the National League, in spite of his slowness. He is a terrific driver and the fact that he plays on the Philadelphia grounds adds perhaps 15 points to his percentage.

Base-Running Dope Shows That Both First Sackers Are Weak on the Paths

Neither man is a good base runner. Hoblitzel has some advantage in that regard. He gains in speed taking two bases, going faster from second to third than from first to second.

Indeed, in studying these figures, it will strike you as rather remarkable that the pennant winning team is the two leagues, who are about to step out and battle for the world's championship, are about the poorest base-runners aggregations in either league, and their first basemen are fair representatives of the team.

Luderus Hard to Fool.
Luderus is a quiet, phlegmatic and unemotional fellow with considerably more brains than he looks like. He is a credit for possessing when they judge from his deliberate movements that he is a slow mover.

The pitchers tell me that he is deceiving in this; that he looks easy to fool, but just as likely to be fooling the pitcher, for after he has been fooled for some time, he will make the cover lose from the next one of that kind. He has one trick, and that is to make the pitcher think that he is a slow mover, and then to make the pitcher think that he is a fast mover.

MARKET RECOVERY

FOLLOWS WIDE

STOCKS

COMMISSION HOUSES ENDEAVOR TO

HALT SPECULATION; CLOSING

IS IRREGULAR.

By Leased Wire From the New York

BUREAU OF THE POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The Evening

Post, in its copy of the financial review,

today, says:

"Which a market as today's, with its subsequent declines running 3 to 10 points in numerous stocks and its subsequent violent recovery to the highest prices of the day, will be regarded in different ways by different people.

"To the speculative outside public, the fact that the violent midday break

brought such buying orders, the outstanding fact.

"The selling on which the midday market broke came very largely from quarters where stocks had been held for a further rise. It was partly in response to the unusually frank and positive recommendation, by commission houses to their clients, to keep out of the market and protect their account. That other speculative orders to buy should have rushed in on a large scale at the lower level, was equally a consequence of the advice given some time ago from the same quarters, and which prices were much lower, to 'buy

on all reactions."

"Precisely these two opposing influences were at work when the famous speculative crash of 1910 was approaching its culmination. When the market broke in those exciting times, it recovered its losses instantly on enthusiastic buying and went higher. But the end of the day, however, and the Wall street

know what the character of the speculation really was.

"What really made up the news of the day was the progress of the plans for flooding the European loan. Except as this incident by no means a direct influence on the stock market, it was a bearing on the confidence of the public in the financial strength and resources of the country. The process of making the general public this exceptionally large loan, and the promptness of the government to the operation, came at a moment of military achievement of the highest importance, and the battle front."

BULL STORM CAUSES A

HIGHER COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Between the nervousness caused by the rapidly and extent of yesterday's break and the severity of the bull storm which was reported central in the neighborhood of Vicksburg, the cotton market was extremely nervous during today's early trading.

Liverpool was much better than due and the market was opened firm at an advance of 15 to 20 points, with December contracts selling up to 12.90, January 12.80 and March 12.70. The advance was due to the fact that there was a good deal of overnight

selling, and in spite of the active demand

on the cable and floor, prices reacted several points from the best during the early trading.

The Jarr Family

Written for the Post-Dispatch
By Roy L. McCardell

Mr. Jarr Proves How Wise He Was in Not Listening to Another's Matrimonial Troubles.

"S S S S S!" said Mrs. Jarr in a tense whisper as she opened the door of the home nest for husband and father.

"All right," Mr. Jarr whispered back. "I'll see to it." And he slipped in and once inside asked, "S'matter?"

"She's going to leave him," whispered Mrs. Jarr. "She can stand no more."

"They'll trouble her away in an invalid chair if she's going to leave him and can stand no more," ventured Mr. Jarr.

"I cannot understand how you can be so callous at such a tragedy under your very eyes!" replied Mrs. Jarr, coldly. "I'm speaking of the Wilkinses, downstairs."

"Then it's a tragedy beneath my feet, so to speak, rather than beneath my eyes?" replied Mr. Jarr.

"And, dearie, my heart is not hard but believe me I have troubles of my own."

"You have no trouble like that. You haven't a drinking husband, like that poor woman!" snapped Mrs. Jarr.

"I should hope not!" said Mr. Jarr, firmly. "And now, my little brown wren, what is the do-do?"

"I am not your little brown wren, and I don't understand your language at all," retorted Mrs. Jarr. "I only know that I told her that the man was hopeless, and if I were in her place we should part!"

"But you are not in her place, and we are not going to part!" said Mr. Jarr.

"Oh, I'm not talking about us; I'm talking about them—the Wilkinses," Mrs. Jarr replied. "Poor Mrs. Wilkins has been up here all afternoon, crying her eyes out. She has no one to sympathize with her except her father and her unmarried aunt and her two sisters who are out at the San Francisco Fair!"

"Distant relatives, eh?" Mr. Jarr remarked.

"Don't try to be funny," said Mrs. Jarr. "It's a great tragedy. I tell you. I asked Mrs. Wilkins to have a headache powder, because I always try to have some refreshments in the house in case a friend drops in unexpectedly. Of course I do not care to mix up in other people's affairs, just as I told her. So when she asked me if she could bring some of the came home I said "yes." "Count me out!" exclaimed Mr. Jarr.

"You'd stand by the man, of course," said Mrs. Jarr. "Hush, I hear Mrs. Wilkins coming now. Stay right here!"

But Mr. Jarr tore himself away and made for the fire escape at the back.

"How are you feeling now, you poor dear?" was Mrs. Jarr's greeting to the visiting neighbor.

"I have had a good cry and I wrote a long letter to my people," answered Mrs. Wilkins, a faded little woman of 20.

"Just put it out of your mind," counseled Mrs. Jarr, in that easy manner in which we tell others to forget their troubles.

"I am a most unhappy woman," Mr. Jarr could hear the visitor wail. "I have never known a happy moment since I married him. My father set him up in business three times, and he doesn't do anything but drink and carry on. Wait till you see the letters!"

"Oh, I don't care to see the letters, my dear," said Mrs. Jarr as she reached for the incriminating epistles. "Forgive and forget. Give him another chance."

Mrs. Wilkins sobbed. "That's easy for you to say. You have a good husband, who holds his position, brings you home his salary, who is steady and reliable and isn't a weakling who drinks and flirts!"

"Not so loud," whispered Mrs. Jarr. "Mr. Jarr is in the next room; he may hear you." Mrs. Jarr closed the door as she spoke, for it does not do to spoil the best of husbands by letting him hear too many good things about himself.

Even Mrs. Wilkins, married to a wretched sinner, sensed this. "Aren't those dreadful letters—calling him 'Twinkles' and 'Toodles'?" she asked. "I could stand his drinking, but when I found these letters in his pocket I knew the end had come."

"Maybe some joker, some cruel practical joker, put them in his pocket," Mrs. Jarr suggested. "Mr. Jarr says they do such things."

"Thoughtful husbands tell this tale. It is a good excuse in time of peril."

"But these letters are genuine," cried Mrs. Wilkins. "I know the handwriting."

"Well, since you know the truth, I can tell you your husband is a wretch," said Mrs. Jarr. "Why, I could tell you!"

"Don't tell me anything!" snapped Mrs. Wilkins. "Everybody is in the conspiracy against my poor Aubrey! I'm sure he never looked at YOU!" and she stalked out.

"And that's the thanks we get!" said Mrs. Jarr to Mr. Jarr afterward. "I told you we shouldn't have anything to do with other's affairs!"

OUR contribution to the oft-asked question "Should the Girl Propose?" is that she generally does, only the poor fellow doesn't know it.

HERE comes the auto, May! Fancy having to go and pay calls in such weather?
